WIDE RANGE TO BE COVERED BY KINGSTON'S FALL DISPLAY WEEK

More Than One Hundred of Our Leading Merchants Will Cooperate in Making The Fall Display Worth Coming Many Miles To See.

The list of participants in Kingston's Fall Display Week, September 19-27, which is being carried on by the merchants of Kingston through the Retail Trade Board of the Chamber of Commerce, has increased from 107 to 131.

The Spring Dress Up Week which has previously been the high order mark in co-operative merchandising events had 75 participants. Fall Display Week has almost doubled this number. Everyone remembers Dress Up Week which attracted notice for many miles around Kingston. Fall Display Week now bids fair to dwarf even Dress Up Week.

Fall Display Week is a great co-operative opening of the Fall Season with new fall goods for all stores handling seasonal merchandise. It is a week of increased vigor, exceptional displays and elaborate and attractive stocks for stores whose goods are not seasonal.

It will be a big and long remembered event from the time when the shades are drawn Thursday evening preparatory to the fitting up of the windows for the grand unveiling when the fire alarm strikes seven at 8 o'clock on Friday evening of this week, until the last of the many thousand customers from Kingston and all the country roundabout leave the stores at the last moment of Fall Display Week on Saturday evening, September 27.

The Retail Trade Board Bee is again on hand and everybody now knows that the buzzing and flitting of this bee means big things for the merchants of Kingston and their many customers and friends, both new and old.

Be sure to Be-e on hand in front of the Kingston stores Friday evening at 8 o'clock and then you will surely want to be on hand in the stores on Saturday and all the following week.

WILSON REPLIES TO LABOR COUNCIL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Sept. 17.—President Wilson this afternoon sent a series of specific replies to the San Francisco Labor Council, in which he designs to meet certain objections raised to the treaty.

For the first time he has specifically taken notice of the charges made that he failed to take proper consideration of the Irish situation.

The president, as already has been made perfectly clear in these dispatches, declares that the conference at Paris could not consider Ireland, as the problem there was essentially one over which it had no jurisdiction. However, the president insists specifically that Article 11 safeguards the rights of Ireland.

The questions and answers are as follows:

1—Under the covenant does this nation obligate itself to assist any member of the league in putting down a rebellion of its subjects or conquored people?

Answer—It does not.

2—Under the covenant, can this nation independently recognize a government whose people seek to achiere or have achieved their independence from a member of the league?

Answer—The independent action of the government of the United States in a matter of this kind is in no way limited or affected by the covenant of the league of nations.

3—Under the covenant, are those subject nations or peoples only that are mentioned in the peace treaty entitled to the right of self determination or does the league possess the right to accord a similar privilege to other subject nations or peoples?

Answer—It was not possible for the peace conference to act with regard to the self determination of any territories except those which had belonged to the defeated empires, but in the covenant of the league of nations it has been set up for the first time, in Article 11, a forum to which all claims of self determination which are likely to disturb the peace of the world or the good understanding between nations upon which the peace of the world depends, can be brought.

4—Why was the case of Ireland not heard at the peace conference, and what is your position on the self determination of Ireland?

Answer—The case of Ireland was not heard at the peace conference because the peace conference had no jurisdiction on any matter of that sort which did not affect territories which belonged to the defeated empires. My position on the self determination for Ireland is expressed in Article 11 of the covenant, in which, I may say, I was particularly interested because it seemed to me necessary for the peace and freedom of the world that a forum should be created to which all people could bring any matter which was likely to affect the peace and freedom of the world.

BARGAIN BACON GOES BEGGING

At the uptown fire station—Wiltwyck Hose Company building—there has been a complete clean-up of all of the government food supplies which were there to be sold on Monday, except the bacon. Good as it is, and those who have tried it say it is indeed excellent, it is still going begging. There are over a hundred cans there, which are still offered at the original bargain price, which is $4.25 for the 12 pounds, or about 36 cents a pound. And here is a suggestion to housewives, not only is the bacon excellent as an immediate food, but the fat tried out from the bacon, in fact that which is the ordinary result of cooking the bacon for eating, is excellent as shortening in pastry and cake as well as for frying. Consequently, twelve pounds is not so large an amount, considered in this light, and is economical when one realizes that they are getting both the direct food and the shortening at 36 cents a pound. The firemen at the uptown station will be glad to sell this bacon to any purchaser and the sooner they can sell it the better they will be pleased.

Was Costly Fishing Trip.

William Brassa of Prattsville paid just $86.50 for an afternoon's sport one day recently, that being the amount imposed as a fine by Avery Smith, justice of the peace of the town of Prattsville. Brassa was charged with taking under size black bass from the Schoharie river. Arthur J. Rowley, game protector of Greene county, while on his grounds, discovered Brassa fishing and noticed that every time he caught a bass he went ashore and deposited it in a supposedly safe place. Brassa was fishing midstream. An automobile came to meet Brassa after he had fished about two hours and as he was about to make his departure Rowley came out from a wood ad examined the fish. It is said the defendant had thirty small mouth bass, eleven of which were less than seven inches, the legal size limit.

Lloyd-George's Speaking Tour.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 17—Premier Lloyd-George begins a country wide speaking tour today on the government's reconstruction plans. His first address was scheduled to be made before the International Brotherhood Congress in this city. A report is current in political circles that the premier will bend every effort to effect a junction with labor in order to bolster up the strength of the coalition government.

STRIKE PERIL MENACES BOSTON

Unions Vote Against Strike But Officials Insist They Are Supporting the Mutineer Police Force.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Sept. 17.—Peril of a general strike of labor unions in sympathy with the striking policemen, continued to hang like a pall over the city today. This situation existed despite the fact that the union firemen had declared they would not strike and other unions were said to be voting solidly on the proposition of walking out only if there should be a strike of all unions.

Guy H. Oyster, secretary to President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, delivered his report on the Boston situation to his chief today in Washington.

Denial by Police Commissioner Curtis today that his amendment to the order regarding the punishment of those found guilty of violating the rules of the department, had any bearing on the present situation and was designed solely for the future, put to rest reports that it furnished a loop hole through which most of the strikers could return to their jobs.

Governor Coolidge too, denied today that any suggestion of any compromise to end the police strike had been made to him, but inferred there had been a suggestion that the striking policemen be reinstated.

"No suggestion of a compromise has been made to me," he said. "As to any suggestion to the reinstatement of the striking policemen, I have nothing to do with that. It is a matter for Commissioner Curtis to decide."

The results of the strike vote will not be known until the Central Labor Union meets Sunday.

Coincidentally with the statement of the firemen that they will not strike, Mayor Peters called Fire Commissioner Murphy into conference today for the purpose of readjusting the wages paid to the firemen so that the minimum will be increased from $1,100 to $1,400, and the wages of privates will be increased all along the line to correspond to the increased wages in the police department. Applications for membership in the new police force continued to come in rapidly today, a majority of the applicants being ex-service men.

With the state guardsmen, fixed bayonets on their rifles, patrolling the streets, conditions in the city today were even better than in normal times. It was apparant that the majority of citizens have become accustomed to the military police.

All those intending to go with the party are requested to be at the court house at 11:45, and all members of the bar who own autos and are willing to help make the outing a success, which it is bound to be, are requested to be at the court house at that time. Henry Klein, the efficient secretary, is negotiating with some top line vaudevillists to come up from New York and spring a number of the latest puns on the lawyers.

Wilson in San Francisco.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17.—President Wilson came to San Francisco today prepared to carry his fight for ratification of the treaty of Versailles, as it stands, directly into the home camp of Senator Hiram Johnson. The latter is on the trail of the president. Consequently, peculiar interest is attached to the visit of the president who is to stay here two days, the longest period of time he has devoted to any one city on the present trip.

JOHNSON HURLS HIS CHALLENGE

Choice is Between League of Nations and Americanism He Tells Audience Nearly as Large as President Draws.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 17.—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, speaking before an audience that in size nearly equalled that which greeted President Wilson on his recent visit here, hurled a direct challenge to the president when he declared that the "choice is not between the league of nations and Germanism, but between the league of nations and Americanism."

The president in his address here had stated that the people had to choose between the league of nations and Germanism.

The crowd in the city auditorium last night was at times very enthusiastic and, many say, surpassed in enthusiasm that which listened to President Wilson.

Referring to the president's statement regarding the league of nations, Senator Johnson said:

"The choice is between Mr. Wilson's internationalism, which subordinates and subjects Americanism to European and Asiatic power, and the Americanism that has been ours for 140 years.

"He (Mr. Wilson) has outgrown the government that has been ours for 140 years. We have not. He has made a fundamental choice of a government with his league. We are still Americans. We insist that the government of Washington, and of Lincoln and of Roosevelt, shall not be superseded by an overlordship of eight foreign nations, or by a super-government in which our voice will be but one of nine."

Commenting on the president's insistence that the treaty be ratified immediately, Senator Johnson said:

"The only country that has so far ratified the treaty is Great Britain. France, Italy and Japan have not yet acted. All four of these nations get enormous gains. The only country which takes burdens alone is our country. Since three of these nations have not ratified the treaty, why should we be in haste to act?"

"It is the old, old story; it is the old, old way of endeavoring to bully and bludgeon us into action and to get this thing passed before you know and all of the American people know what it means."

MANY ATTEND COMMUNITY SING

Madame Brocks-Oetteking Delights Audience—Other Notables in Music World Present.

With between five and six hundred people in attendance at the high school auditorium last evening, in spite of the threatening weather, what was considered the best Community Sing, yet, was held last evening, and Conductor Harry F. Dodge was accordingly happy.

Those present were delighted with the singing of Madame Hanna Brocks-Oetteking, soprano, whose fine soprano voice filled the big auditorium and who sang with excellent vocalization and charm of manner. As an encore to her first number, "Caro Nome," from Verdi's Rigoletto, the soloist sang, "The Last Rose of Summer" greatly to the delight of her audience. Then she sang two delightful English songs "If Flowers Could Speak," by Manazucca and "Love in April" by Christian Kierns. In response to the enthusiastic applause the madame sang as her second encore, "Smiling Through."

Among the other notables at the sing were W. B. Eddy and Dr. Kittel from the Albany Community Chorus. So much for the extras.

Now as to the actual community end of the evening's performance, an enthusiastic, yet dignified rendition of that splendid patriotic hymn, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," opened the singing. During the evening the following numbers were sung and well sung, some of them by request: "Bubbles," "Sweet and Low," "Santa Lucia," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Massa's in de Cold, Cold Ground," "Dixie," and one of the negro's "spirituals," "Go Down Moses." One of the special request numbers was, "Massa, Dear," by Dvorak. The sing closed with another special request number, "Till We Meet Again."

PERSHING'S MEN ARE IN PARADE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 17.—The first division of world war fame this afternoon achieved its final and greatest triumph.

Led by General John J. Pershing, the first division—"first in France, first to fight, but last to return"—swinging along Pennsylvania avenue with the rhythm of a delicately balanced poem, captured the hearts of the national capitol, and passed into its glorious chapter in history.

For the hundreds of thousands who saw it, the spectacle of this great force of militant democracy in review created one of those rare occasions in the lives of men and women when the blood, with a leap, surges through the veins, tears of elated emotion escape restraint and thoughts are amid the clouds.

Wild went the capital. Had the unbroken roar of acclaim material force "Black Jack" and the five mile column, infantry, artillery and all, would have been lifted as on the crest of a great wave, and carried along before the four hundred thousand men, women and children who were massed along the parade route from the peace monument, past the White House, packing grand stands, bulging from every window, clinging from trees and lamp posts, jamming the sidewalks and roofs and perched on even each other's shoulders.

Walking gracefully and slightly ahead of the fourth full general of the United States, beautiful young women, with artistically designed flower baskets over their arms, strewed a wilderness of blossoms along the broad reaches of Pennsylvania avenue in the path of Pershing and his on-coming men, as Grecian maids would welcome the victors of the Olympian games of old. This act typified the homage that the crowd made every effort to pay to Pershing and the First.

And at the very head of the "fighting First" rode Pershing, erect upon his mount "Jeff," who waltzed along to the blare of victory music as if he fully realized his own importance. This proud horse was presented to the commander by Jefferson Feigel Post of War Veterans, Jefferson Feigel, of the seventh field artillery, being the first American officer killed in France.

NEW CATSKILL NIGHT BOAT WRECKED ON ESOPUS ISLAND ROCKS

The Point Comfort, on Second Trip Up The Hudson, Laden With Sugar, Strikes Rock Ledge in Front of Rosemount—Crew Escaped Injury.

The steamboat Point Comfort, carrying a cargo of sugar from New York city to Catskill, lies on the rocks at Esopus Island, where she ran in the dense fog this morning, badly wrecked. The crew escaped uninjured. There were no passengers.

The Point Comfort was recently purchased and placed on the Catskill-New York night line to aid in carrying fruit and other freight to the New York market. The boat was in command of Captain James Wood, formerly of Saugerties, and was making her second trip up the Hudson, having left New York about 10 o'clock on Tuesday night. There was a dense fog on the river last night and this morning and at about 8 o'clock this morning while attempting to sail through the inside channel, between Esopus Island and the west shore of the Hudson the Point Comfort ran on a ledge of rocks about 50 feet above the northerly end of the island.

When the crash came Captain Wood was at breakfast. The crew manned the boats and rowed to Esopus Island, where they remained for some time. Later in the morning most of them rowed across the river and flagged a northbound train on the Central which they boarded for home, leaving the engineer and a helper on the island to guard the boat.

The Point Comfort lies with her bow high in the air and her stern under water. Her middle is submerged so that the name on the side cannot be read. The boat is headed east, with the stern toward the west bank of the river, directly opposite Rosemount, Judge Parker's residence. The Point Comfort is a sidewheel boat of about the size and type of the steamer Jacob H. Tremper. On her bow are lettered the words, "Kearnsburg Steamboat Company."

Civilized Women Neglect Their Children Says Dr. Mary Gordon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 17—Women physician from all parts of the world, in convention here today, listened to some unvarnished statements about their sex from Dr. Mary Gordon, government inspector of prisons in England and Wales and other speakers.

"There are many women who are not as good as cats and dogs as mothers," he declared. "In civilized countries women have learned to neglect their children. If they were better mothers and realized that education for character and good habits was necessary for their children then sex would take care of itself."

Burns's Dream is Ended.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Jersey City, Sept. 17—Frankie Burns's dream of winning the featherweight title is but a memory today. Burns struggled to his feet at the count of nine, but Referee Ertle stopped the contest and led him to his corner.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 17—Horatio Bottomley's newspaper "John Bull" in a double page display article today said: "There is reason to believe that Premier Lloyd-George is so distressed over the turn things has taken and is confronted by so many difficulties that he will ask King George to relieve him of his post as prime minister and rest upon his laurels as "the man who won the war."

Loophole For Boston Police.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 17.—A loophole through which most of the striking policemen can be taken back on the force was seen in police circles today in a general order issued without comment by Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis. The commissioner amended the rules so that in addition to other punishments for those found guilty of breaking the rules, a suspension for thirty days or a fine may now be meted out.

MINE WORKERS STICK BY A. F. L.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 17—The United Mine Workers of America will stand firm in their allegiance to the American Federation of Labor.

By a viva voce vote the biennial convention of the miners here sustained the report of the resolutions committee which reported adversely a resolution to withdraw from the parent labor body.

At the same time the convention dealt another wallop to the "one big union" proposal. The committee adversely reported resolutions endorsing the principle of the "one big union" and efforts of supporters to force the issue were howled down by the convention.

The convention also decided to take no action upon prohibition, the committee reporting it to be a moral and not an industrial question.

DAIRY FARM MAKES HIT.

Necessary Buildings Shown For 309 Acre Farm.

People who attended the state fair at Syracuse last week say that among the exhibits which attracted much attention was one showing a model dairy farmstead, every detail of which was complete. The model had a prominent place in the state institutions building. Although the model was constructed on a scale of one one inch to three feet there was nothing missing to complete the picture, from the modern dairy barn and silos to the overhanging elms shading the barn and house.

The fact that the farmstead grounds were covered with real grass was a source of great surprise to many, especially the city people. As they stood looking at the model they would reach down and touch the grass and ejaculate "real grass!"

The model represented a three-acre dairy farmstead in the center of a 300-acre farm carrying 36 cows, 6 horses and 8 spring pigs. All of the necessary farm buildings were shown as well as the home for the owner of the farm and the tenant house. On the north the farmstead was sheltered by a windbreak of white pines and on the west by a smaller windbreak of red cedars. The icehouse, at the rear of the barn, was shaded by a large elm and was connected with the cow stable by the milk room.

Efficiency and Appearance Count.

The idea which the model was intended to emphasize was that an efficient milk-producing plant and satisfactory home surroundings are equally important in such a farmstead. To be efficient, the plant must be workable; it must be carefully arranged and well equipped so that it will be convenient for the man in doing the chores and furnish the stock clean air, pure water, plenty of sunlight and protection from the winds. "The dairy stable is a food producing plant," said one sign, conspicuously displayed. "Maximum milk production can be had only when the cows are healthy and comfortable. They can be comfortable only when warm, well-fed and well-watered."

The house, on the other hand, to be satisfactory "must be livable—it must offer a real, homelike picture. A good lawn, a sheltering orchard, an overhanging elm, a big lilac at the corner, a few flowers by the steps and a vine-covered doorway make a picture which will help keep the boy and girl on the farm."

The exhibit was prepared by the co-operative efforts of several departments of the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

BOOSTS LOCAL PAPER.

Exhibit at State Fair Shows Newspaper's Value.

The importance and value to the state of the local newspapers were emphasized in one exhibit at the state fair at Syracuse last week. The persons who visited the exhibit were greeted by a placard reading, "Has your editor doubled the subscription price and advertising rate of his paper? If not he needs to." And this declaration was backed up by the statement that during the past four years 125 country newspapers went out of business in New York.

Still another card pointed out that "if the folks of the town did half as much for the papers as the editor does for the town, fewer country papers would go out of business."

The exhibit was made by the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, which explained on a placard that the college believes the local newspapers are making a real contribution to the life of their towns and may be ranked with the church, the school, and the home and farm bureau as factors in the life of a community.

Vast British Empire.

Including all her possessions, the British empire has the largest territory. It had at the beginning of the war a total area of 13,123,712 square miles, of which 121,512 are in Europe, 2,187,550 in Asia, 3,618,245 in North America, 8,000 in Central America, 12,300 in the West Indies, 97,000 in South America, and 3,214,685 in Australasia.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

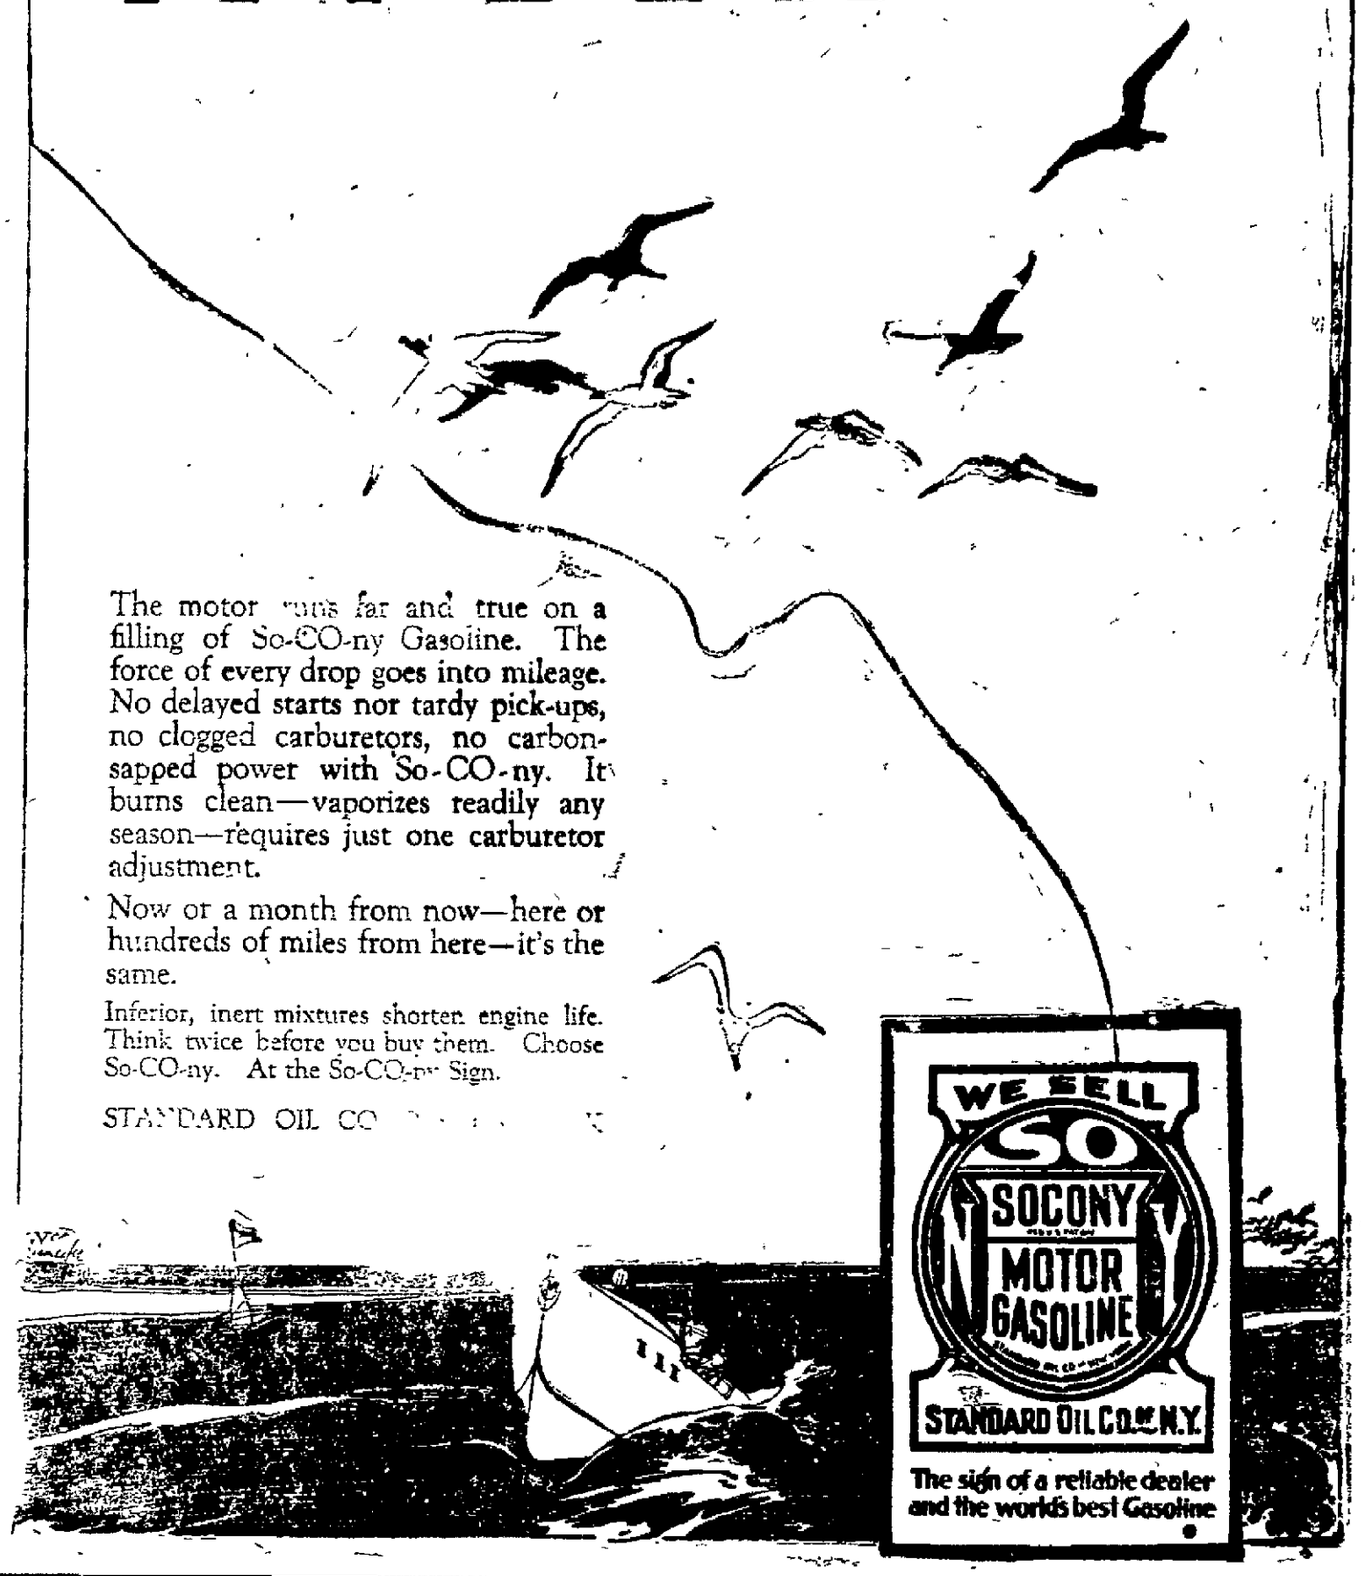
MILEAGE



The motor runs far and true on a filling of So-CO-ny Gasoline. The force of every drop goes into mileage. No delayed starts nor tardy pick-ups, no clogged carburetors, no carbon-sapped power with So-CO-ny. It burns clean—vaporizes readily any season—requires just one carburetor adjustment.

Now or a month from now—here or hundreds of miles from here—it's the same.

Inferior, inert mixtures shorten engine life. Think twice before you buy them. Choose So-CO-ny. At the So-CO-ny Sign.

"DIRECT BITE TEETH"

After years of experimenting our laboratories have discovered a direct bite set of artificial teeth. These plates improve the sense of taste and insure perfect enunciation and articulation. The teeth absolutely cannot be discerned from natural teeth. These teeth because of the direct bite have three times the biting strength of ordinary plates. Are you now wearing artificial teeth? If so, we strongly advise you to call and investigate this new plate.

DUTCHESS FAIR BIGGER THAN EVER

Over 4,000 Attend Opening at Springbrook Park Tuesday—W. D. Brinnier is Official Starter for Races.

The seventy-fifth annual Dutchess county fair opened at Springbrook Park, Rhinebeck, Tuesday with an attendance of more than 4,000 persons. People streamed into the village on every train and auto-bus and many arrived in their own cars.

The exhibits at the fair are conceded to be among the best ever held in the county.

There are forty-three large tents in the grounds and thirteen booths, all these proved magnets for the visitors during the day.

A tractor demonstration in which there were six different makes of machines was one of the features today. A mule race this afternoon between steeds driven by Fred C. Hornbeck and Assemblyman J. Griswold Webb, also proved to be a drawing card.

Ex-Mayor W. D. Brinnier, of Kingston, acted as official starter for the ... on Tuesday. In the first race fo... unty horses "Sundower, owned by ... W. Wolven, of Pleasant Valley, was first. "Marquella," owned by L. W. Brown, of Poughkeepsie, second "Waterville Lad," owned by Jo... Cady, of Poughkeepsie, third. T... 21¾.

...ultural Hall is crammed to ...st capacity with gorgeous ...nd a large variety of vege... two hundred different vari... dahlias are shown. Besides the ...ston display of cut flowers, fine ferns and beautiful roses which are on the professional list, and many others.

Shows Norwegian Ponies.

Warren Delano, of Barrytown, superintends the exhibit of horses, which include his well known Norwegian ponies and which are considered the finest stock in the United States.

There are also a number of stallions which attracted much attention from the horsemen present. These include a Belgian stallion exhibited by H. C. Shears of Staatsburgh, a Percheron and a trotter belonging to Mr. Delano. At the show Mr. Shears also has a Belgian mare and filly foal, a Belgian three year old mare and also a two year old Belgian mare. There are 26 entries of all kinds of horses by fourteen exhibitors. Vincent Astor shows two farm teams from his Ferncliff estate. Mr. Delano also has a pair of Percheron mares with filly foals. Matthew West is assisting Mr. Delano in charge of the horse show.

Cattle, Sheep and Swine.

The cattle, swine and sheep exhibits are in charge of J. Griswold Webb and Harry D. Fraleigh. The animals shown include some of the finest raised in the country, and were the subject of many admiring remarks from the farmers today. more than 100 head of cattle are exhibited, mostly Holstein cows.

Under the superintendency of Elias Vail, the best poultry in Dutchess has has been gathered together for the exhibit at the fair. Most excellent specimens of fruit and vegetables are being shown in charge of A. R. Stickle, George Keuchler and Hubert Green.

The children's exhibit which is in charge of Hubert Gage, shows the very fine work which has been done by the children of the county.

The flowers and plants are in charge of E. A. Coon.

The Dutchess County Health Association has a tent in which the workers are demonstrating child welfare work.

One Side Show.

There is but one side show at the fair. At that G. W. Sherwood is exhibiting a cow with triplets, eleven weeks old. At Horticultural Hall there is also shown a puff ball found near the park which is sixteen inches long and twelve inches high.

Scattered about the fair grounds are ice cream booths, frankfuter stands, places where soft drinks are sold and a shooting gallery.

SAMSONVILLE.

Mrs. Asa Barringer has been ill but is much better.

Mrs. Hannah Van Kleeck went to Union Grove to call on her son, Ernest, and also to purchase peaches.

The young people who attended the party at S. Davis's at Krumville on Saturday evening had a very pleasant time.

GOOD FOOTBALL MATERIAL IN K. H. S.

The High School boys are practicing every day from 3 until 5 o'clock, in preparation for the opening of the football season. About twenty-five boys are going out and working hard. Veterans of the game, (who have seen the practices) say that the material is good and there are excellent prospects of Kingston High School having a winning team, this year.

Of course, they will need support, a great deal of it, and more than the student body can furnish, so the balance of the support is expected from the sport loving public of Kingston.

Messrs. Buley and McIntyre are giving every possible moment to the coaching of the candidates. Temporary Captain Goldberg, is helping the coaches in every way possible and by their united efforts good results should be obtained.

Following is the schedule:
Sept. 27—Watervliet at Kingston.
Oct. 4—Kingston at Poughkeepsie.
Oct. 11—Kingston at Port Jervis.
Oct. 18—Kingston at Newburgh.
Oct. 25—Poughkeepsie at Kingston.
Nov. 1—Albany at Kingston.
Nov. 8—Kingston at Albany.
Nov. 15—Newburgh at Kingston.
Nov. 22—Kingston at Watervliet.
Nov. 27—(Thanksgiving Day) Troy at Kingston.

Watervliet games are not yet settled, but in all probabilities will be on the schedule.

This year there are so many pupils in the industrial classes in charge of Prof. Service, that it is quite a problem as to what should be done with them.

Atwaters On Trial.

Morton and Elliot Atwater, members of a wealthy Poughkeepsie family who were identified with the wrecked brokerage firm of Atwater, Foote and Sherill of that city, went to trial before Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins in Carmel yesterday. When six jurors had been selected the panel was exhausted and an additional panel of fifty was ordered for today. A while ago the defendants, indicted in Dutchess county on charges of grand larceny and hypothecating of securities of customers, got a change of venue to Putnam county.

RECOVERY OF LOST GOLD.

British financiers are working over time in the effort to bring the pound back to its old place and stabilize exchange. This doubtless accounts for the astonishing suggestion of the London Globe that "steps be taken immediately to declare the United States dollar legal tender in Britain at par for 4 shillings 2 pence and at the same time declare the British pound note legal tender at the same rate in the United States for 490 cents." A common currency and a common treasury would be only one step further. America will beg to be excused, but Americans can heartily wish the English good speed in their very proper effort to re-establish the gold reserve which the demands of the war so greatly depleted.

One means toward this end is both laudable and interesting—the more or less successful effort to recover not only the gold that went to the sea's bottom during the late war but during the Boer war. The successful salvaging of gold ingots valued at $5,000,000 from the hull of the Laurentic off Fasad Light has just been announced. This is not the first success of the kind and will not be the last. Near the end of the war the salvaging of valuable sunken cargoes, even when the work had to be done under hazardous conditions due to exposure to enemy attack, was brought to a high state of efficiency. Thousands of tons of much needed goods undamaged by salt water were redeemed from the sea. Since the armistice the same work has gone on with greater efficiency because of greater freedom, and there is no reason why the British may not recover all such lost gold as can be located and is not buried too deep in the waters.

Governor Smith keeps busy appointing committees to perform service for which the state is paying department heads as well as legislators who must make the laws which will be necessary for the furtherance of new methods if new statutes are imperative. The most that these committees can do is make recommendations which will have to be acted upon by the legislature. So why not select legislators so that senators and assemblyman will not have to take second hand information when legislation is being prepared? The Governor without doubt is playing what he thinks is cute politics, his opinion being that the men and women who are selected will feel so highly honored in being named that they will say a good work for him later. This is one of the old, worn out methods.

The man who says he isn't a partisan and boasts of his nonpartisanship is usually a nonentity when it comes to the last analysis in politics. As a matter of fact he is seldom enrolled with either political party and the most he can do when he should be able to do something is to attack what has been done, something which he did not try to prevent. People of intelligence, men and women, fortunately are commencing to see the wisdom of being partisans, which is the first step towards party government and which is the only intelligent procedure which can be followed if we are to advance safely and sanely in the administration of public affairs. The whole story is told in one word, enroll. Then if you have anything to offer to your party it will be received for what it is worth and it will be used in an orderly manner.

Judging from the controversy over the judiciary nominations in New York city it would be well to keep the tiger below the Bronx and not let it get its claws imbedded upstate. Tammany's respect for the courts has always been equal to its respect for anything that can be converted into patronage. There are three things that should be protected and which should take precedence over the league of nations and everything else—the school, the church and the judiciary. These are essentials if we are to live in concord and peace.

Movements are under way to create among men an interest in church work. The purpose should be supported even if for no other reason than its educative value. Take the church out of the world and see what would happen. As it is there are thousands and tens of thousands who would rather go to church and hear a good sermon than to go to the movies. But they want to hear a good sermon. They also want to be a part of a definite, militant organization, one that stands for something that they can see and feel and touch. More power to the movement.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Bix—"So your friend became wealthy through a sudden upward movement in oil. What oil stock did he buy?" Dix—"He didn't buy any. A rich old aunt tried to start a fire with a can of it."—Boston Transcript.

"Do you think a girl should give up working after she is married?" "She may resign her position, but she'll find after she marries that she will never be able to give up working."—Detroit Free Press.

"What kind of coal do you wish, mum?" "Dear, me, I am so inexperienced in these things. Are there various kinds?" "Oh, yes. We have egg coal, chestnut—" "I think I'll take egg coal. We have eggs oftener than we have chestnuts."—Kansas City Journal.

Mother—"Always think twice before you speak." Tommy—"Gee, ma, you sure do some quick thinking when you start on pa!"—Judge.

Heck—"I understand that your wife is subject to moods." Peck—"Wrong! She has but one and I am subject to that."—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Hauton—"My ancestors were among the Plymouth Rock Pilgrims." Little Willie—"Oh, now I know why ma says you're an old hen."—Baltimore American.

"Whiskey is a poison." "Yes," replied Uncle Bill Bottletop. "But it used to be a good deal slower before they took to makin' it out o' wood alcohol."—Washington Star.

The Professor—"After years of effort I must confess defeat. I cannot write. There is no originality in me; neither can I present the thoughts of others pleasingly. But," and his face brightened at the thought, "I will teach others to write." So he became a professor of English.—Life.

Advantage of Home Sewing.

It pays to know how to sew. At least that was the impression which many persons got at the exhibit of home-made garments in the state institutions building at the state fair at Syracuse last week. How much more satisfactory and economical home made garments frequently are than the ready-made kind was shown by two girls' dresses of pink cotton material. Both were almost identical in design and trimming. One cost $1.25, including the prices asked at the store and the time of the housewife in making the purchase; the other cost $2.02, including the price of the material and the time in making it at home. In spite of the almost double cost of the home made article, no one could doubt the economy of it. Both garments had been worn and washed five times. The store dress was faded and bedraggled; the home made garment was almost as fresh and attractive as the day it was finished. Other interesting features of the exhibit were placards displaying good combinations of materials for dresses, together with the usual prices for a yard of each. This exhibit was a part of the display made by the New York state college of agriculture which occupied a prominent place in the state institutions building.

This coal and gas range with two ovens is a wonder for cooking

Although less than four feet long it can do every kind of cooking for any ordinary family by gas in warm weather or by coal or wood when the kitchen needs heating.

There is absolutely no danger in this combination, as the gas range section is as entirely separate from the coal section as if placed in another part of the kitchen.

By using both the coal and gas sections of the top, nine large utensils may be heated at one time.

See the Pastry Baking always in sight in the gas oven. The most delicate cake can be perfectly baked and watched through the glass paneled door.

A Large Roast and other baking can be done at the same time in the coal oven.

The advantage is plain—Two Ovens give double capacity and allow the cook to complete the baking in one half the usual time.

Call and see this wonderful range

SOLDIERS' DRIVE A HUGE SUCCESS

The nation wide drive—with the slogan 1,000,0000 members in the American Legion by September 20th—which was launched in Kingston on Monday evening is a huge success as far as Kingston is concerned. The boys certainly have maintained their pep and vigor as shown by their efforts. The following new members were enrolled in Kingston Post, No. 160, as reported to Eugene B. Carey, secretary, since Monday:

William Shultis, 18 Ora Place.
Harry N. DuBois, 221 East Strand
Eugene J. Carl 221 East Strand.
Alex. E. Cahill, Kingston, N. Y.
Delancy A. DeGraff, 168 Washington avenue.

Milton H. Canfield, 204 Fair street
John H. Bassett, 26 Chambers St.

Frank J. Stopkie, 427 Delaware avenue.
Aaron Burr Kiersted, 6 Flatbush avenue.
Frank J. Augustine, 59 Broadway.
Stephen J. Augustine, 48 Chambers street.

There are probably other men who have signed application cards but their cards have not yet been turned in and it is urgently requested that daily reports of new members be made to the secretary's office, 53 John street.

Manager George Gildersleeve of the Hathaway Theatres and Manager Philip Sherry of the Orpheum Theatre have very kindly consented to assist in the drive by advertising same on their screens free of charge and the post heartily appreciates their work.

The following merchants have also consented to mention the drive in their newspaper advertisement, which is fully appreciated:

R. C. Dittus
S. E. Eighmey
Stock & Corlis
S. Cohen's Sons
L. B. Van Wagenen Co.
Charles Warren
C. H. Lovin for the Publicity Group of the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee was unable to reach all the merchants and no doubt there are many others who would assist in the same manner and their so doing on their own initiative will be noticed and appreciated.

The loca ipapers are giving all the publicity we find necessary to ask of them and only through their columns could the post be so successful in the drive.

Keep up the good work, boys. Stick together and stay together by joining Kingston Post, that's the slogan. Report your new members to Eugene B. Carey, secretary at 53 John street.

Sturdy Old Italian Dame.

The women of the lower classes in Italy are indefatigable workers. They have to be, and do all sorts of laborious and unwomanly tasks, according to our American ideas. In fact, the traveler in Italy is almost convinced that the women do all the work, while the men do the talking. Age is no barrier to feminine activity, for one old crone at least eighty, to judge from her wrinkled face and tottering steps was photographed carrying an immense basket of fagots, all alone, across one of the busiest streets in lovely Lugano in Italy.

RELIEF TRAINS AT CORPUS CHRISTI

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 17.—Four or five relief trains, bearing food, blankets, cots and tents have reached the flood-stricken district of Corpus Christi and the work of succoring the homeless is proceeding rapidly acording to advices received at army headquarters here today.

The city is under martial law with Lieutenant Porter in charge. By nightfall he hopes to have enough tents to house those whose homes were destroyed. Additional supplies and aid is being rushed from all parts of the state.

Conditions in the devastated area are pitiful. Many temporary morgues have been constructed and these are haunted by weeping men, women and children, in search of relatives. In many instances the bodies already have been buried because of their condition and the danger of disease epidemics.

The bodies of 29 women and children were buried in one long trench grave near White Point last night. Forty more bodies were recovered and put in temporary graves near Sinton early this morning.

Many of the bodies were unrecognizable because of mutilation. Some were so blackened by oil that it was impossible to tell whether they were black or white.

Headquarters of the relief distribution and the temporary morgues have been besieged with frantic relatives who fear their loved ones may be buried in nameless graves and never identified.

Seventy-five bodies have been washed ashore on the north end of the bay. They, like others, have been so bruised and torn by pounding of waves ad wreckage that identification may never be possible. Clothing has been torn off most of them.

Rescue workers have been forced to rely almost wholly on cards and papers in what little clothing that was left on the body for identification.

In Corpus Christi the wind tore down the streets, wrecking stores and dwellings. Then came the tidal wave which drenched and ruined household effects and carried them into the bay.

Between 200 and 300 houses in Peninsula between Corpus Christi and Nieules Bay were demoblished.

A freak of the storm left one home standing, that of Judge Donald. He and his family spent a terrible 24 hours there before they were rescued.

As the waters recede, more bodies are revealed. Many of them are attired in tattered night garments, indicating they were caught in bed with little or no chance to escape.

STEEL WORKERS IMVITE GOMPERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 17.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is to be urged to come here tomorrow by the representatives of the 24 international unions, who are considering the advisability of deferring the steel strike until October 6.

This announcement was made when the men adjourned their first meeting at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, after being in session for about three hours. They will gather again at four o'clock when a telegram will be dispatched to President Gompers, urging him to come here.

It was learned by the International News Service this afternoon that the men were unanimous for allowing the order calling for a strike next Monday to stand. Calling off the strike now, it was said, would mean the bringing up of the American Federation of Labor in this district. If such action was to be taken President Gompers' presence is demanded.

Interesting Old Bible.

One of the original owners of the Treacle Bible, living in the eighteenth century, had made notations on the fly leaf concerning "John, who was born on Friday the 10th of February, 1769, at a quarter after eight at night, was baptized at Crossgate church on March 16 following, by the Reverend Mr. Wheeler, who died of smallpox, 12th April, 1769, and was buried the next day at Crossgate church, aged eight weeks and five days." Other deaths, marriages and births were dated as far back as 1701-1702.

Commonwealths and States.

Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky are officially styled commonwealths, although there seems to be no particular reason except custom, as it has practically the same meaning as state. A commonwealth is a democratic form of government, such as that of each state of the Union, the four using the name commonwealth not differing from the others. As far back as 1636 the Massachusetts colony was spoken of as the commonwealth.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Sept. 17.—Rev. William H. Austin and family of Kenoza Lake motored to Esopus on Thursday, accompanied by Miss Marian Mott, who had been their guest for about three weeks.

Miss Loretta Ellwanger and Miss Bertha Reckseigel, are home for a short vacation.

Mrs. Lyholt and daughter, Margaret, also Mrs. Horton, all of Kingston, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Best and children of Beacon motored to this village one day last week to visit Mr. Best's brother, Jacob Best.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Linden are entertaining Miss Mary Heidecamp of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ganoung and daughter, Vivian, of Poughkeepsie were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ganoung.

Miss Mary Hessian of Connecticut and Miss Duffy of Pennsylvania are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John J. House.

About one hundred and fifty persons were present at the reception given in Elmore Hall by the Otetiani Tribe, No. 466, Improved Order of Red Men, on Saturday evening last in honor of the returned soldiers and sailors of Ulster Park, West Park and Esopus. Not all the soldiers were present, illness preventing some and death in the family of one prevented his coming. Following are the names of those present: Soldiers—Gilbert Burridge, West Park; Graham Bilyou, West Esopus; Waldron Dumond, Ulster Park; David Lundy New York city; Daniel Linden, Harlow McLean and William Hommel, of Esopus. Sailors—Albert Bedford of New Rochelle and William Woltman of West Esopus. Miss Miller's orchestra of Kingston furnished the music. Rev. G. W. Budd had been requested by the committee to address the returned men, and at about 9:30 appeared at the hall and was introduced to the audience by John H. Beaver. He gave an up to date patriotic talk and was listened to with interest by those in the room. Bontiful refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, cake, coffee and soft drinks. A large cake with white frosting bearing the words "Welcome to our Boys" in pink letters, and decorated with tiny American flags, attracted much attention. The cake was made by Mrs. J. Benjamin of West Park and was served as a "special" to the soldiers and sailors. The hall was tastefully decorated with large American flags. Committee in charge: Chairman, George Hummel; assistants, John McCarthy, Peter Scheide, Harvey Ostrander, Jacob Fisher and Darius Wager. Other members of the order assisted the regular committee, and throughout the affair was a success.

More Difficult Task.

GAS RUINS RURAL CHURCH.

Automobile Makes Possible Rural Attendance in City Churches.

How the automobile may not seem to be an unmixed blessing is disclosed among the many little human problems which are being brought to light in the survey of the Episcopal Diocese of New York which the every name campaign is taking as a part of the church's nation-wide campaign.

Among the missionary stations of the upper section of the diocese are the villages of Noxon and Fishkill Plains. The farmers in that neighborhood have prospered greatly during the past few years, in consequence of which most of them have added automobiles to their equipment in the barns. This is a distinct gain for the farmer, but—

In the survey blanks which have been sent out, rectors and missionaries are requested to give a detailed statement of the problems confronting them; and from Noxon and Fishkill Plains, in answer to this query comes the answer.

"Cars owned by the farmers are used to go to larger centers for church services."

This of course, opens up the whole problem of the rural church, with which both of every name and the nation-wide campaigns are seriously concerned.

With the spread of education among the people has come an intellectual demand upon the churches as upon all other agencies which the church up to now has not been able to meet in the rural districts; and with the universal adoption of the automobile the farmer has found it possible to go to more populous centres to satisfy that perhaps, in many instances, unconscious craving for a more highly developed spiritual consolation. So that the humble missioner from Noxon and Fishkill Plain is voicing anew a demand for church extension work which the every name and the nation-wide campaigns of the church are designed to meet.

But if the automobile has proven a draw back in Noxon and Fishkill Plain, up at Lake Mahopac the situation is completely reversed, for in the survey return from the church of the Holy Communion located at that point, there comes in the same mail among the detailed problems confronting the rector, this plaint:

"One apparent need is an automobile to enable the rector to minister to people out in the surrounding country, dependence, at present, being upon dilapidated vehicles, drawn by dilapidated horses, one of which broke down in the road recently, compelling the rector to slowly and painfully return home without reaching either of said mission stations."

And, if any further comment is necessary, it is furnished by the rector himself who answers the next question. How do you undertake to solve the problem with a sense of clerical humor as unexpected as delightful in the circumstances, replies:

"Why, to get the auto as I ought to."

It is a noticeable feature of the survey returns that almost without exception rectors, in both the urban and the rural sections, list motion pictures as a helpful institution in the community and it is only objected to when the pictures are found to be of a questionable character.

Solo Most Frequently Used.

Music may be joined to words in many ways; in church music, opera, oratorio, madrigals, part songs, and so on. But experience shows that the most frequently used type is the solo, ranging in its manifestations from primitive folk song up to the richest complexities of the art.

Instead of candles, Lucille's mother placed six large marshmallows on top of her birthday cake. When little Doris returned from the party her mother asked: "Well, did you all have a jolly good time?" and she replied: "Yes, and they ate the cake, too, mother, but it looked so bad, just like a sponge. It had little toothstamps on it."

Origin of "White Elephant."

The king of Siam in years gone by would send a white elephant to a country whom he disliked and whose fortune he wished to destroy. The man would not sell the elephant and the expense of keeping it eventually "broke him up." From that custom was handed down our present day saying, "He's got a white elephant on his hands."

Still Searching for Atlantis.

Phoenician tradition recalled to the people of Atlantis a high civilization. During the last few years scientific expeditions, in pursuit of natural history "specimens," have made explorations of the sea bottom in that region. How interesting it would be if their dragnets brought up from the depths some ancient relics from drowned towns of the lost continent.

STORM DEATH LIST GROWING LONGER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 17.—Figures compiled today from eight towns and cities along the storm-swept Texas gulf coast place the number of dead—killed in the tornado which swept the gulf shores Sunday—at 252.

State and municipal authorities and relief workers say this number will be greatly increased as wire communication is established with numerous sparsely populated coast villages which have been completely cut off from the outside world since Sunday.

Telegraph and telephonic communication with the storm-swept region was restored temporarily during the night, and from flashes received here the following list of dead was compiled:

Sinton, Tex., 75.
Portland, Tex., 56.
Corpus Christi, Tex., 47.
White Point, Tex., 29.
Rosita, Tex., 27.
Port Aransas, Tex., 6.
Aransas Pass, Tex., 4.
Rockport, Tex., 8.

A message received here during the night from Havana, Cuba, states that 30 persons lost their lives when the tidal wave struck that city.

Twenty men at the government rest camp for soldiers at Corpus Christi were among those killed, according to one report. These men were swept out into the bay when the tornado struck the camp. The soldiers from from units stationed at Brownsville, Texas. Captain B. M. Edgeland, who was in command of the rest camp, is believed to have been lost with these men. His wife is reported also to have been drowned.

Late last night 47 bodies were recovered from Corpus Christi.

Refugees arriving here during the night said the death list will be probably increased by several hundred.

Relief parties are scouring the country thoroughly and do not expect the death list to exceed 300.

The property damage will run into the millions, some placing the figure at the present time at $25,000,000. This does not include the loss of cattle. Already a number of ranchers have reported several herds of cattle, numbering thousands, have been lost.

The Red Cross and volunteer relief organizations are working untiringly to care for the homeless and destitute. Fully 8,000 are said to be homeless in Corpus Christi alone. Other cities in the storm zone report hundreds helpless and relief organizations are being taxed to their utmost to care for these.

From stories told by those rescued after battling with the water and wind for from 12 to 24 hours, it is known that one of the hotels on the beach at Corpus Christi was destroyed and that practically the entire residential section of the north beach was wiped out.

These refugees say the big wave struck the town about 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, the water rising four feet in less than ten minutes. This was followed in a few minutes by a larger wave which tore houses from their foundations.

One plays the violin while she dances, another plays the ukulele, another dances while she picks the banjo, two others do solo dances, still another shows herself an accomplished pianist, and another the possessor of a well trained voice.

Maroon A. C. Defeated.

The Glasco team hung up their thirteenth victory of the season by trimming the Maroon A. C. of Kingston by the score of 14 to 7 Sunday afternoon at the Glasco baseball field. Heavy hitting and fast fielding gave the Glasco boys an early lead which they held throughout the game. The Maroons were unable to solve the curves of S. Briody, who pitched a strong game. Bennie Deshler, outfielder of the Glasco team, broke his arm above the elbow while throwing the ball to the infield.

GRAND GORGE.

Grand Gorge, Sept. 16.—This community lost one of its oldest and most respected residents last Saturday in the death of Alonzo Mann at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Eugene B. Dyer, on Main street. His demise did not come as a surprise to many of his neighbors as he had been in very feeble health for a long time. His kindly nature and genial disposition will long remain a pleasant memory in the minds of his friends and neighbors. The deceased is survived by two sons and one daughter, William and John Mann of New York city, and Mrs. Clara B. Dyer of this village. He was in the 84th year of his age. The funeral was held here Tuesday morning at 10:30. Interment in Fairview Cemetery.

Callus? "Gets-It" Will Peel It Off!

Nothing on Earth Like Simple "Gets-It" for Corns or Calluses.

A callus, or thickened skin on the sole of the foot, which often makes walking a misery is of the same nature as a corn. "Gets-It" removes it as easily as it does the toughest corns. By using a few drops of "Gets-It" on the callus, you will be able to peel it off with your fingers, in one complete piece just as you would a banana peel. It leaves the skin free and smooth as though you never had a callus. You need be sure many platters, sticky tape, "sure-kure" bandages, knives or scissors for corns or calluses. "Gets-It" is the natural corn remover, the biggest on earth, used by millions. It never fails. Will work, play and dance at once in spite of corns.

"Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Sold by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

ULSTER GREETS THE PRESIDENT

Judge Betts Formulates the Greeting and the County Committee Adopts It—Greetings For Governor Smith Also.

The Democratic county committee of Ulster county held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the court house for the purpose of organizing and electing officers. Just what was done except elect officers and pass resolutions could not be learned as the meeting was held behind closed doors, none but selected members of the Democratic party being present.

J. J. McGrath was re-elected chairman, Henry E. McKenzie was re-elected clerk and Harry Clearwater of the Eleventh ward was elected treasurer.

In a very eloquent speech Judge Betts introduced the following resolution which was seconded by Thomas J. Comerford:

"Resolved, That the Democratic county committee of Ulster county, state of New York, in meeting assembled at the court house, city of Kingston, September 16, 1919, send greetings to our great president, Woodrow Wilson, now crossing the continent in behalf of the German peace treaty and league of nations covenant; that, having led the nation through the greatest crisis in the history of the world to a great victory, and having succeeded after months of intense effort in uniting the chief powers of the earth into a society of nations, a consummation formerly dreamed of and wished for by all statesmen irrespective of party, creed or race, this committee expresses its faith and confidence in our president, and in the great work he is doing, and

"Be it further resolved, that we, the members of this committee, protest against partisan efforts to make a party issue of the peace treaty and league of nations and it is the sense of this committee that the senate of the United States should ratify said peace treaty and covenant and allow the greatly needed work of reconstruction after the terrible war so successfully won, to begin."

The resolution was amended to include the leading citizens present and was carried by a unanimous rising vote.

Governor Alfred E. Smith also came in for his share of kind words in the following resolution which was introduced by Professor John T. Loughran and seconded by John E. Kraft:

"Resolved, That we, members of the Ulster county Democratic county committee in meeting assembled at the court house, city of Kingston, N. Y., September 16, 1919, desire to express our pride in the administration of Governor Alfred E. Smith, and in the splendid and satisfactory character of service he is rendering the people of the Empire state."

Following this, the members unanimously carried a resolution which placed the Democratic party on record as being in favor of the manufacture and sale of light wines and beers While the Democratic county committee was holding their session in the court chambers upstairs passing their resolution in favor of the making and sale of light wines and beer, the Prohibition party was assembled downstairs in the supervisors rooms where the victory of July first was being talked over. The resolution of the Democratic party was as follows:

"Resolved, that we favor the manufacture and sale of light wines and beers, including all such beverages as the farmers and residents of Ulster county have been accustomed to make for their own use and for sale, and that we condemn any interference and restrictions on these personal rights of our citizens; that we are against ultra-restrictive and sumptuary laws, either by legislative enactment or by constitutional amendment; we do not believe in a minority curbing the personal rights, habits and privileges of the majority; that prohibition was forced upon the people during the war but the United States supreme court has not yet passed upon the constitutionality of the ratification of this amendment by the legislatures; that the people should be granted a referendum on this important question; that we promise the voters that our candidate for assembly, if elected will use every lawful effort at his command to defeat any and all bills introduced in the state legislature abridging the constitutional rights of our people; that we believe no question can be finally settled until it is settled right, and the free American citizen should not be branded as an outlaw by sumptuary enactment."

Emanuel Metzger, the Democratic candidate for mayor, explained his platform, an account of which was published in last night's Freeman. The address of Mr. Metzger seemed to be well received and was loudly applauded. Following Mr. Metzger's talk the meeting adjourned.

The attendance was unusually large, most of the prominent Democrats of the city and county being present.

NEW HEATING SYSTEM.

Soldier's Invention Adds Comfort to the Farm Home.

Comfort, cheeriness and cleanliness in heating farm houses at a nominal cost has been made possible by an invention announced recently by a soldier-engineer who has given much thought to the heating of hospitals, barracks and temporary quarters which have no cellars. It is really a complete miniature hot-water heating plant, built on the idea of a sectional book case, so that as much or as little of it as is desired can be used at any time, and parts taken off or put on at pleasure. It is called a radiator boiler, and combines the uses of the old fashioned stove, the hot-air furnace and the elaborate hot-water heating systems used in large mansions.

This radiator-boiler is not as large as many base-burning stoves. It can be set up in the parlor or living room just as a stove, and is more attractive. The trimmings are in nickel, and the body can be painted or enameled in any shade desired—as a stove cannot

From the radiator-boiler runs the piping, either in view or hidden in walls and partitions, to as many rooms as are to be heated. The radiator-boiler itself has a heating surface, so that it heats the room in which it stands—but unlike a stove, it cannot overheat a room.

One very attractive feature to country dwellers is that the new heating plant does not have to be set in cellar or basement. It can stand on a level with the rooms it is to heat. In the past, farm houses have been heated either with stoves or hot-air furnaces. In the case of stoves, there was neither a stove for each room, with a fire to be kept up in each; or one stove was expected to heat several rooms, which it did by making one too hot and leaving the others too cold. The hot-air furnace, of course, had to be in the cellar.

This new radiator-boiler, the standard future heating plant of the farm home, requires no cellar and but one fire, which takes no more fuel than the ordinary base burner—and heats all the rooms in the house to the same temperature.

Hit Murphy's Automobile.

Tuesday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock Ralph Nard, a high school student, ran his bicycle into Andrew Murphy's big red Stutz touring car. Young Nard was coming down the high school hill at a rapid pace while Murphy was going down Broadway. The bicycle hit the side of the automobile near the rear wheel, throwing Nard to the pavement and smashing the front wheel of the bicycle. Nard received a bad bump on the head and a cut on the right leg below the knee. He was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where Dr. Gillett, who happened to be nearby at the time of the accident, dressed the wounds and Nard went to his home. The turn into Broadway from the high school is a bad one and it is a wonder that more accidents have not occurred.

Methodist Church Dedicated.

Marlborough's new Methodist Episcopal Church was dedicated Sunday morning by the bishop, Luther B. Wilson, of New York city, who also spoke at the morning service. A statement of the building committee was made to the effect that the new church is free of debt with the exception of a few thousand dollars. The church has been erected on the site of the old one on Grand avenue at a cost of $32,600. The architect was George E. Savage of Philadelphia.

Republicans Organize.

The Greene county Republican committee organized Saturday by electing William E. Thorpe chairman; Wilton O. Edwards, secretary; and Charles H. Arbogast, treasurer. All are from Catskill.

DORY OSTERHOUDT ESTATE TANGLE

An interesting case, growing out of the estate of Dory Osterhoudt, town of Rosendale, has been tried before Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck without a jury. Dory Osterhoudt in his life time was engaged in many pursuits, having an ice and sawmill business in Rosendale, several farms and a tract of land on Long Island. After his death his wife was appointed executrix. After acting as such a short time she died and his brother, George Osterhoudt, was appointed administrator, with will anexed. The business affairs of Dory Osterhoudt were confused and the administration of his widow added to the confusion. Before he died Dory Osterhoudt borrowed money of his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Samuel Alliger and Lavina Alliger, amounting to nearly $1,600. While ill in the hospital he sent for Mrs. Alliger and gave a chattel mortgage on most of his personal property to secure the money borrowed. After his death his personal property was sold and the proceeds, amounting to about $1,200 were placed in the state of New York Bank to the credit of his estate. Mrs. Alliger claimed the money, and through her attorney, James Jenkins, brought action to compel the brother, George as administrator to turn the same over to her. This George refused to do claiming that the chattel mortgage, having been given a few days before his brother's death, was void and that the estate was insolvent, and the chattel mortgage would give Mrs. Alliger preference over other creditors. The case was finally tried before Justice Hasbrouck, who has decided that Mrs. Alliger is entitled to the money in the State of New York Bank, and directs George Osterhoudt to pay the same to her. Frank W. Brooks was the attorney for George Osterhoudt.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders have crept in, forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; you shall begin it well and serenely and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense.—Emerson.

WHAT FOODS GO TOGETHER

We should avoid in our menu planning to serve today a cream soup, fowl meat, sweet potatoes, a vegetable with drawn butter sauce and a salad with mayonnaise dressing and ice cream with chocolate sauce — all dishes very high in fuel value. We must not feast one day and starve the next. Dishes hard to digest should be withheld entirely from children, but dishes well liked but difficult of digestion may be served at a meal which also provides for the children, without an entirely different menu. Concentrated foods should be served with something which will serve to dilute them, hence the custom of serving dry crackers with cheese or combined with a white sauce on toast, mixed with rice, macaroni, hominy, bread and milk in various dishes.

Butter, another concentrated food, is used on bread and potatoes. Small portions of food of various kinds can be digested where large ones would cause trouble.

The most important thing for the housewife to see to each day is that her family has well balanced meals, or if a light meal one time, make it up in the next so that the daily average is well kept.

The housewife who plans her meals a week or a month ahead has the opportunity to give her family the best of balanced meals.

Condiments aid digestion, add flavor and enhance the pleasure of many dishes; however they should be used sparingly and never given to children.

Serving meals in courses helps to enhance the artistic effect, and is often easier than getting the meal all on at once. The last course should be like the last word—one that leaves a sweet and pleasant taste in the mouth and a desire to have more.

The woman who studies food combinations and proper serving of them will enjoy a trip to some tea room or hotel to see some new furnishment or new dish which it will be her pleasure to repeat for her family.

Soliciting From Candidates.

Any person who solicits from a candidate for an elective office money or other property, or who seeks to induce such candidate who has been placed in nomination to purchase any ticket, card or evidence of admission to any ball, picnic, fair or entertainment of any kind, is guilty of a misdemeanor; but this section shall not apply to a request for a contribution of money by an authorized representative of the political party, organization or association by which such candidate is nominated.—Penal Law, Section 779

Vacancies Filled.

Tuesday was the last day to fill party nominations by committees to fill vacancies caused by declinations of nominees at the primaries. In the town of Rochester the committee on vacancies have nominated Hugh Smith of Wilsonville to fill the vacancy on the Democratic ticket in place of Jerome Dunn, deceased.

Fred S. Terwilliger of Walton has been nominated by the Democratic committee to fill a vacancy for assessor for the term of three years, caused by the death of Francis Garrison, deceased.

FIRST AID COURSE TO HELP PREVENT 'WASTAGE' OF LIFE

Red Cross Plans Instruction for Industrial Establishments and Schools in America.

The First Aid Division of the American Red Cross is mapping out plans to advance proficiency in accident prevention among industrial workers and among the public at large, according to an announcement made by Ethan Allen, Manager of the Atlantic Division.

It is the hope of the Red Cross that ultimately every man, woman and child in the country will be trained in the administration of standard first aid methods. There is particular need of immediate training in this respect in industrial plants and schools, and as especially good field for this work is afforded in the great industrial centers and factory towns in the territory of the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross.

In the very recent past there were hundreds of deaths annually as the result of inattention during the first few minutes immediately following accidents in factories, mines and other industrial centers. Several of the States recognizing this condition, have lately enacted laws providing for First Aid training in big plants, and almost weekly greater and greater numbers of establishments are voluntarily taking up the work in States where it is not compulsory by law.

Based on Modern Surgery.

The Red Cross First Aid instruction imparts the necessary knowledge to care for sudden injuries by means of lectures and practical demonstrations based on the latest findings of modern surgery, augmented by common sense. In such knowledge lies a material conservation of the industrial power of the nation to say nothing of the humanitarian advantage.

The value of First Aid is so apparent as to need no explanation. The life of a child may often be saved by the intelligent application of simple relief methods that cannot be delayed except with fatal consequences until a doctor is summoned. Many a workman meets with a serious accident and dies on his way to a hospital who might have recovered had there been an application of First Aid in the few minutes immediately following his injury.

It has also been proved that efficient First Aid treatment shortens the time lost by disabled workmen. Hospital records have shown that patients who have received First Aid treatment at the scene of their injuries are invariably in better condition upon entering the hospital than those who have not and are discharged sooner. This has been confirmed by railroads, by mining and lumber industries and other large concerns where the employees are especially liable to accident.

There is apparent also a need for such instruction and training in schools. At a formative period of the lives children and young persons learn First Aid efficiency even more quickly than adults.

MAIMED CZECH SOLDIERS OUTFITTED WITH LIMB

One hundred Czecho-Slovak veterans, the first crippled victims of a campaign against the Russian Bolshevist armies to reach New York city, sailed for Europe after being fitted for the return to their homeland erect, walking, whole-limbed men through the Bureau of Military Relief of the Atlantic Division. To rehabilitate these fighters an appropriation of $2760 was made from the Military Relief funds.

To make possible the repair of the artificial limbs after one group of warriors has returned to its native land one of the Czecho-Slovaks, Rozny Bazan, whose home is in Prague, was educated in the science of artificial limb construction during his month in New York city.

COUNT BONI IN THE LIMELIGHT ROWS WITH FRENCH CARTOONIST

Anna Gould's Ex-Hubby Threatens to Slap Face of Sem for Depicting Him as a Broken-Down Dealer in Fake Antiques.

By Robert J. Drew.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Sept. 17.—Friends of Count Boni de Castellane announce that he is preparing to slap the face of Sem, the famous society caricaturist, who in a new series of witty sketches just published depicts Anna Gould's quondam husband as a dealer in antique fakes.

Boni was in the country when the offending caricature emerged from the press and Sem was at Deauville Beach, but friends of the Count say he is very angry and will certainly castigate the clever artist. All the smart people in Paris are keeping a watchful eye open for developments, and the creme de la creme of the incident may be a duel.

The sketch shows the Count trying to palm off a dilapidated Louis XIV armchair as the genuine fauteuil in which Colbert. The prospective buyer, looking on with startled eyes, is M. Loucheur, the minister of reconstruction. The armchair has only three legs left, and within its battered framework is a tangled mass of patches, old wire and straw.

More offensive still, say Boni's friends, is the picture of the Count himself, who is shown as a broken-down old aristocrat, with frayed shirt-cuffs and ragged trouser-ends above a pair of inelegant pre-war boots.

The idea which Sem desires to convey is that the faded aristocracy of France are now trying to trade off their old possessions to the war millionaires. Since he ceased to have the handling of Jay Gould's millions it is common knowledge that Count Boni de Castellane has been making a living in business. First reports placed him as an automobile salesman; then he took up the position of expert adviser to the nouveaux riches who desired to stock their homes with genuine antiques. Sem's picture now suggests to Paris that he is still pursuing that line.

The caricature is no less cruel to M. Loucheur, who is generally said to have made a fortune out of the war before he entered the cabinet.

This is the cartoon by Sem, for drawing which Count Boni threatens to slap his face.

He is one of the few big business men called to office to steer France through the war. Colbert, whose supposed fauteuil Count Boni is represented as selling to M. Loucheur, was one of the greatest ministers in French history. The son of a cloth merchant, he became secretary to Cardinal Mazarin and then controller-general of finances under Louis XIV. Colbert was wrongly blamed for the crushing burden of taxation which resulted from the amazing prodigality of Louis, and on his death in 1683 he had to be buried in the dead of night to preserve his remains from an infuriated mob.

Sem also takes a fling at President Wilson in his new book of caricatures, which he entitled "Le Grand Monde a l'Envers" (Topsy-turvy society). The president is represented with a clerical collar and bowler hat, seated at a counter with a leather grip on his knees. Behind the counter Francis de Croisset, the playwright, is depicted trying to lease him a French chateau. "For you, Mr. President," Croisset is saying, "there will never be anything to pay."

This is a hit at the playwright's action in turning over his home in the Place des Etats-Unis, Paris, to the president on his return to France last March. Apparently Sem imagines the president paid nothing for occupying the Croisset home for fifteen weeks.

Scenting trouble on the publication of his new album, Sem says in a foreword, "It seemed to me a good joke to show how the wealthy people of Paris before the war have now gone broke. I hope this innocent fantasy will offend none and that my victims—among whom I have many friends—will be the first to smile when they see themselves camouflaged as the 'new poor,' as poultry merchants, newspaper sellers, antique dealers or gamekeepers."

STORES KEEPING UP WITH NATURE

There's nothing like keeping up with nature when it comes to real, good advertising. In the spring time the world is dainty and full of promise, and we humans follow suit and no matter what our business, make a showing of all that is dainty, light and cool.

Now don't laugh, for it is true that even the stove men, the gas plumbers, the furniture men and the book and music stores were all showing spring and summery things for our first "Dress Up" week. Just to prove that statement, gas plates and ranges were surely more summery than big coal ranges; porch furniture was daintier than we will want to be cozy this winter; summer novels and light and tripping music come into its own during the other window display week.

When it comes to a fall display everyone of the more than hundred Kingston stores taking part for the week beginning Friday, September 19th, will have to hustle if they keep up with nature's fall display. Yet in the one display as in the other, richness, color, warmth, comfort will mark this week's window decorations, of every sort possible.

And if our business people are as wise as we think they are, there will be one other important note to this harvest time exhibition; usefulness rather than useless luxury. Nor does the sensible idea of "usefulness" preclude beauty of every sort, for one of our greatest New England philosophers, Emerson said that, "The beautiful was often more useful than the useful," (exclusively.) What is meant is that our business men whatever their line will see to it that the people of this community have an opportunity to see what they have for sale that can be used and that to advantage.

While Fall Display Week will especially appeal to the department and clothing stores of every sort, Dress Up week showed us that some mighty clever displays along most unexpected lines of business were possible, and this will be even truer this season.

Be sure and make your plans to be on our business streets when the shop windows are unveiled on Friday evening of this week. It will be a real big event!

CITY HALL JOB NOW COMPLETED

Charles J. Michaud, the contractor, has completed the work of remodeling the city court room, and building the offices of the city engineer on the third floor at the city hall. Tuesday evening the building committee of the common council inspected the work.

The city engineer's offices are now on the first floor of the building. The new offices are on the top floor. A big vault has been built and a large designing room laid out on the top floor, with a private office for the city engineer. A laboratory has also been installed. The floors are of hard wood, and the new offices are well lighted with a number of windows. They are directly across the hall from the office of the superintendent of fire alarm.

In the city court room a jury room has been built, which will also be used by the city judge as a private office. A vault in which to store the court records has also been built.

The former offices of the city engineer will be used by the board of health.

RED CROSS WOMEN SHOULD PARADE

Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, is in receipt of an invitation from Sidney D. M. Hudson, secretary of the chamber of commerce and chairman of the parade committee on the celebration of victory for our returned soldiers, October 1st, that all Red Cross workers and members participate in the parade to take place on October 1st. An answer to the invitation is asked for not later than September 23rd. So much for the invitation. Now for the request.

There has been comparatively little Red Cross work done of late and the war has been over for nearly a year. Marching, especially for many women unused thereto, is considerable of a hardship. These are busy days. The Red Cross workers, in good force marched when the celebration in honor of our first returned service men was held. What will the answer be now? Will the Red Cross women of the community, each and everyone, think of these few facts? The men returning recently, and whom we have not yet formally welcomed have been among those who most surely made it possible for our women to relax their strenuous—for some daily—Red Cross tasks, in fact they made it possible for all of us to be living in the safety, comfort and happiness which we now enjoy. They never questioned whether or no it was a hardship to march, when there was marching to be done. They offered more than "busy days," they offered up their business and their lives for right and for their homes and dear ones that they might be spared the unspeakable curse of Prussianism!

We gave the first returning soldiers every possible welcoming honor, including a fine representation of the Red Cross workers of this community, who by their very uniforms and aggregation proved beyond words that they too had done their bit for their men overseas and their country. Shall the Red Cross workers, can the Red Cross workers of Kingston do less for these returning men who have seen the longest and in many instances the hardest service?

The answer to the invitation is left to the Red Cross workers themselves. Every Red Cross worker, in whatever department or sort of work, who is willing to take part in the parade on October 1st, is asked to notify Red Cross headquarters, this city, either by telephone call or by postal card, not later than Friday afternoon of this week that they will accept the invitation and march. Telephone calls should be made between the hours of 10 and 11 a. m. and 2 and 4 p. m. It is indeed to be hoped that the Red Cross workers will see to it that they as cordially and in as large numbers participate in this as they did in the first "Welcome Home" celebration.

CULL FARM FLOCKS.

And Get More Eggs From Less Feed.

The month of September finds that most of the poultrymen and a great many of the farmers in the state have already culled their hens. In the past few years poultry raisers have found that culling out their poor hens early has resulted in more eggs laid, less feed used and more money made.

If flocks have not already been culled, now is the time to do it. According to the poultry department of the New York State College of Agriculture, the hens to cull out are the ones that first stopped laying. The best hens are the ones that are still laying. Where a small breeding flock can be cared for it is best to make up a pen of hens that do not stop laying until October, November or December. Such a pen will improve the laying quality of next year's chicks.

Use Color as Guide.

In culling now one should get rid of the birds that show by their deep-yellow legs, new glossy plumage, and thick, blunt pelvic arches that they stopped laying early in the summer. The hens that are laying have full bright waxy combs, soft pliable abdomen and bleached out shanks. A ragged bird that has just begun to molt should not be culled now just because she is not laying.

Reception to Major Meagher.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of School No. 5 held a very largely attended meeting Tuesday afternoon at the school building. The meeting took the form of a reception to Major Frank Meagher, who has just returned from over two years' service in the army, and who has resumed his former position as principal of School No. 5. Major Meagher gave some very interesting talks in regard to his army experiences. Following the reception ice cream and cake was served.

Mankind's Debt to Reading.

That it enables us to see with the keenest eyes, hear with the finest ears, and listen to the sweetest voices of all time? More than that it annihilates time and space for us."

SCHOOL TEACHERS ENDORSE CRUSADE

With the announcement made by the National Tuberculosis Association that the second annual tournament of the modern health crusade for school children will begin immediately after the opening of the school terms this fall, a further statement was made that the National Education Association, which includes 400,000 teachers in the country, has endorsed the crusade in a formal resolution.

There will be approximately 3,000,000 entries in the crusade this coming year. All children who won the title of page, squire, knight or knight banneret last year are eligible again to try for promotions in "the field of the cloth of gold" and new entries may take the jousting field at any time.

The modern health crusade is based on the performance of eleven chores to be done each day for 15 consecutive weeks. By completing 75 per cent of the chores each week during the fifteen weeks, the entrant becomes a knight banneret and the lesser titles are graded according to the number of chores done.

The endorsement from the National Education Association came at the Milwaukee meeting this summer. Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, the newly elected president of the teachers' association, in her first address said there were at least 15,000,000 defective children in the country and that only two per cent of 387 representative counties she had visited had adopted a health program. Following her speech, the resolution of endorsement for the modern health crusade was adopted.

It was also announced that the governors of Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Alabama, in proclamations addressed to the mayors of cities at the opening of school terms, urged the adoption of the crusade. Governor Harding of Iowa called upon "every Iowa teacher, patient and child to co-operate in his health habit forming movement."

The modern health crusade is conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association and the 1,000 local and state organizations affiliated with it. More than $6,500,000 worth of Red Cross Christmas seals will be placed on sale during the holiday season under the auspices of the National Tuberculosis Association. The seal sale will provide the funds for the extensive educational campaign which the association is conducting in its fight on tuberculosis.

Swift Locomotion.

Men can run about 32 feet a second, that being the world's record for a hundred yard sprint. Contrary to common supposition, skaters are no swifter than runners, the world's records for both being precisely the same—32-3 seconds for a hundred yards. Runners on skis have, however, made as much as 72 feet a second, and in leaping on skis more than 100 feet a second is attained.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 17—Weakness was displayed in many issues at the stock market opening today, but shortly after the start concentrated buying of the steel issues sent prices in this group up from 1 to 3 points. Steel Common yielded ⅞ at the start to 104¾ and then advanced 1 point. Bethlehem Steel B after yielding to 96½ advanced to 99½ and Baldwin Locomotive from 134 advanced to 135⅜. American Locomotive yielded ⅞ at the opening to 109½ with a quick rally of 1 point. Pressed Steel Car advanced over 2 points to 96¼, and Lackawanna Steel 2¼ to 88½. The marine issues were under pressure, Marine Preferred falling ¼ to 119¼; Marine Common 1⅝ to 60 and American International 1 point to 102½. American Can advanced 1 point to 58½ and American Tobacco 4¼ to 260½. The railway stocks were quiet and fractionally lower.

Later a nervous tone developed, with interest attached to the steel meeting at Pittsburgh. There were some sharp reactions in the steel issues. Baldwin Locomotive dropped nearly 3 points to 132½; Bethlehem Steel B, 1⅜ to 97¾, and Steel Common 1⅜ to 104½. The motor issues became strong, General Motors rising 6½ to 244¾; Studebaker, 2½ to 120⅛, and Pierce Arrow, 2 to 63¼. Transcontinental Oil advanced nearly 2 points to 58⅜. Marine Common fell 2⅜ to 59¼ and the Preferred 2½ to 211¼.

The market was heavy during the afternoon while awaiting developments of the meeting of the steel labor heads at Pittsburgh.

The market closed heavy today, government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

First Dolls.

The first dolls of which there is any knowledge were found among the treasures unearthed from the ruins of Babylon. They were small figures in terra cotta and ivory, beautifully carved and must have been fascinating playthings for little Assyrian children. The little girls of Syria had mechanical dolls. As these children married very young, they played with their dolls until just before their wedding day.

Ex-President Receives 1,825 Mystery Notes

Long Beach, Cal.—Former President Taft every day for the last five years has received from some unknown person of this city a letter bearing a signature which resembles the tracks of a struggling fly escaping an ink bath. None of the writing is decipherable.

Postmaster Demond received a communication from the former chief executive asking relief from the correspondent and requesting that the local police investigate the situation.

In all, 1,825 letters from the mystery author have been received, the letter to the local postmaster states.

ASK ADAMLESS EDEN

Illinois Girls Want to Have Colony in Far West.

Suggest That Governor of Wyoming Procure for Them a "Bad Lands" Tract as Soon as Possible.

Bloomington, Ill.—A group of Kane county girls plan to found an "Adamless Eden" in Wyoming or some other far western state.

Miss Nellie Grant is sponsor for the movement and has written to Gov. R. D. Carey for his assistance in starting a woman's colony far from the haunts of man. In making her unique request, Miss Grant stated that the party will be made up of twenty, of whom ten are employed in a watch factory, seven are housekeepers, two are nurses and one is a school teacher.

All are dissatisfied with their lot and assert that the future holds forth nothing that is sufficiently encouraging to warrant their remaining at home. They believe that they can make a success of farming and would like to obtain a section of land, 640 acres, in some unsettled region, far from a railroad and little frequented by man.

Miss Grant suggested to the Wyoming executive a tract in southwestern Wyoming known as the "Bad Lands," and which is really a desert. No man will be allowed about the premises.

Governor Carey admitted that it was the most unusual request that he had ever received. He turned the letter over to the immigration commissioner with a suggestion that he do everything in his power to find such a tract for the party from Illinois.

The young women are ready to pay for the tract, but have limited funds, and can only finance a section that has not yet felt the advancing tide of civilization in the way of price. Some members of the proposed colony object to Wyoming and believe that Montana or Idaho offer greater possibilities.

The decision, however, has been left with Miss Grant and the choice will follow the investigation of various sites now being made. In anticipation of the establishment of the colony, the various members are studying diligently the subject of farming and stock raising.

They are ambitious in their plans and propose to utilize tractors and trucks instead of horses, and will introduce other up-to-date methods on the western frontier. They are also studying irrigation. All of the young women are becoming familiar with a revolver and rifle and will be prepared to defend their colony against any unwelcome intruders.

An effort is being made to close the deal by fall so that the trip to the West can be made by the first of next year. It may be necessary to erect some buildings. The young women say that they will be prepared to do everything necessary in the way of constructing a domicile.

LYNCHED AS CHURCH LOOTER

Mexicans Slay Man Accused of Stealing Jewels Off Image in Village Edifice.

Mexico City.—Details of the lynching of Juan Galvan, a prominent resident of the village of Zaragoza, in the state of San Luis Potosi, have been received in the capital.

El Democrata, in publishing the story, declares that this is the first instance of lynching recorded in Mexico.

Galvan was publicly accused by the pastor of a church in Zaragoza of robbing the image of a virgin in one of the churches of gold and jewels valued at $5,000. The curate informed his hearers, who dragged Galvan from his home, built a funeral pyre and tortured him until he died. The curate has been detained by the authorities.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

FIDGETY FASHIONABLE HEN.

"Cluck, cluck, cackle, cackle," said Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen. "I chatter or cackle or cluck or talk for any one who wants to listen."

She walked nervously about, then ran hurriedly and then stood still and then sat down in funny, squatting fashion all her own.

"Of course," she continued, "Nick is a boy, but what does that count for in life? What can a boy do? Nothing much. He goes to school, gets into trouble, gets out of it, plays, goes to sleep, eats and still is always hungry.

"This last is the most sensible thing about him. I am a good eater myself. I am given the choicest of grain, the best sorts of hen food, and I eat it. As a reward for my good food I lay good eggs, delicious eggs. But ah, I've come to appreciate myself!"

Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen looked about to see if anyone happened to be listening and then, as she saw a worm in the ground, she forgot what she had first started to look for. So she continued her talk without finding out if anyone were listening to her or not.

"There was a time," she continued, "when I used to give Nick and Nancy and their friends all the eggs they wanted, and they used to sell my eggs and those of some of my sisters and cousins.

"Now it is different. I do not care to remember the time when I was a little chicken and after my poor mother met such a sad ending though it was an honorable ending to be sure. She did stand up for her rights and would not get out of the road to please anyone.

"But I don't care to remember how they fed me and looked after me and even made a pet of me. In my friendless days they were good to me, but I won't think of that now. If I do I will be entirely too loyal and too unselfish. No, now I will make them think a lot of me. And that is just what I have been doing.

"I've been showing them that I wasn't any cheap, good-for-nothing, ready-to-please hen. I have shown them that I'm a fine animal, or a bird or a fowl, or whatever anyone chooses to call me.

"I've been showing them that I'm important and that my eggs are rare and fine. I fidget and fuss more than ever. I don't work hard and I don't intend to. I care for no one but myself and I lay eggs when it pleases me to do so.

"Ah, cluck, cluck; I will lay one soon now, and then again I may lay another. But my eggs were getting too many and too cheap. They didn't think enough of me. Now they will think so much more of me because I don't lay the number I used to lay.

"Well, Miss Gray Hen, what have you to say for yourself?"

"I just saw Mr. Red Crown Rooster picking up a worm. He's a generous fellow and is always sharing what he finds with others."

"Cluck, cluck, cackle, cackle," said Miss Fidgety Hen, "you have that old-fashioned idea that generosity is a virtue."

"Why, yes; don't you agree?" asked Miss Gray Hen.

"Gracious, no," said Miss Fidgety Hen. "It's too foolish. It doesn't get you anywhere. People think more of you when you're selfish and important and rare. And even if some people wouldn't agree, what does that matter? Every one for himself or herself, I say, whether she be a hen or a girl or a dog or a cat."

"You'll live to be a friendless old hen," said Miss Gray Hen.

"Cackle, cackle, what do I care for friends?" said Miss Fidgety Fashionable Hen. "I have more than friends. I have the respect of the whole world. At last hens have come into their own, good, sensible hens like myself who follow the fashion and who make eggs rare and expensive.

"I'm helping build up the noble profession of the laying of the breakfast eggs, and I'm the sort of hen who commands great respect by her pride."

A Word of Prudence.

"If you must be a musician, my son, learn to play the piano."

"Why, father?"

"Then when you are engaged with an orchestra you can turn your back on the room and won't have to look at the dancing."

Cold Water.

Little Girl—My father says he has often seen you act.

Foolish to Trust to Luck.

It's no use tackling big propositions blindly. Dumb luck may bring you out on the right side. It may also bring you out on the short side. And if it does you are bound for defeat. Blind good fortune has brought men through trials, but they are not stronger for it. It's the man who sees the trials and marshals his forces so as to bring every ounce of energy into control that wins honors on the up-grades.—Exchange.

The Six Senses.

In a primary school examination, a question about the senses was answered by a bright pupil in this fashion: "The five senses are sneezing, sobbing, crying, yawning and coughing. By a sixth sense is meant an extra one, which some folks have. This is snoring."—Boston Transcript.

USE GUARD TACTICS

How Villa and His Men Foil Pursuit.

Bandits Scatter and Hide as Federals Appear—Brown Uniforms Aid.

Juarez, Mex. — Francisco Villa's method of evading pursuit by Mexican government troops is almost identical with that used by a covey of quail to escape the hunter. Even the detail of protective coloring has been applied by Villa, for his men always wear brown cotton clothing which blends with the desert landscape and dust clouds through which they travel in campaign.

Hunters know that the quail's instinct directs it to scatter when danger approaches and seek cover in the near-by landscape. Villa and his rebel bands do the same thing when a superior federal column approaches.

Often Villa's band will number 2,000 men under his chiefs, Angeles, Lopez, Diaz and Garcia. They make a column which coils across the plains like a giant snake and leaves a great dust cloud in its wake.

But let General Castro's government troops approach with artillery, machine guns and cavalry mounted on former American army horses and the column will break up into little bands of 100 under petty chiefs, will disappear in some mountain canyons and go into hiding until the federals pass. Once the danger of attack is over the column reassembles, occupies some town in its path and again disappears with its loot.

Villa's men have been known to hitch their horses to plows in the fields of the irrigated districts and be industriously plowing when the federal scouts appeared. They have learned various tricks of deception during the years of evading the federals, and even drive a herd of burros with them so they may transform themselves into wood venders on occasion.

CAPT. KIDD'S SPOOK SWINDLE

Pirate's Ghost Induces "Suckers" to Purchase Farm—Found No Treasure.

Trenton, N. J.—Capt. Kidd's spirit is not a reliable witness as to where the redoubtable pirate buried his treasure, in the opinion of Sophie Sautor and Marie Blumer of Paterson and Fred Laechers of Elizabeth, who appealed to the supreme court against both the spook and his alleged sponsor, Daniel Dalsinger of Oakland, N. J.

The three took a chance and bought a farm from Dalsinger in May, 1913, on the strength of his assurance that Capt. Kidd's spirit had appeared to him in the night and revealed the exact spot on the farm where he had buried whole chests of pieces of eight.

They do not wish to pay the balance due now because they have dug up the entire farm without finding a single doubloon.

GERMAN GIRLS BLACKLISTED

Pilloried in Church if They Associate With American Soldiers.

With the American forces in Germany—Posters warning German girls against associating with Americans appeared recently in Coblenz and other towns on the Rhine.

American officers who have investigated say certain Germans are resolved that girls who associate with the American soldiers shall be punished and that several secret societies have been formed for that purpose.

On several occasions the names of girls who associate with Americans have been read to the congregations at Sunday morning church services. In other villages the practice is to post the girls' names in public places. Blacklists of the girls' names are being kept for use after the Americans are gone.

Money in Blueberries.

The average profit from an acre of Maine blueberry land is said to be about $100, and as no fertilizer or cultivation is necessary these berries are a quick and profitable crop. This is one of Washington county's big industries. For instance, the whole section from Porcupine mountain to the east Machias line is practically all blueberry land. Several factories are devoted to the canning of the berries.

VIENNA'S AGED DYING ON FEET

CHILDREN ARE EMACIATED

Scrawny, Limp, Listless From Malnutrition and Seldom Smile or Play—American Red Cross Is Helping.

London.—Dr. Ethel Williams, a Newcastle doctor of 30 years' experience, recently has returned to England from Vienna. She attended the Woman's International conference at Zurich, where she heard so much about the conditions of disease in Austria that she decided to see for herself what those conditions really were. She spent a week in Vienna, visiting the hospitals and the school kitchens, studying medical statistics, interviewing representative people, and seeing as much as she could of the city. Speaking to a Manchester Guardian representative, she said:

"What impressed me most was the appalling condition of every old person I saw, and of 95 per cent of the children. The old people were like walking death's heads. There are so many things that persons over sixty cannot digest. The mortality among the old has increased by 150 per cent.

"What struck me most when walking about the streets was that there were no toddlers. Children of three and even four years were carried by their mothers. The children did not run about, or shout, or quarrel. It was four days before I saw a child playing.

Most Children Emaciated.

At least 95 per cent of the practically well children were painfully emaciated, with discolored circles around their sunken eyes and the tendons of their necks showing like those of old people. Even middle-class children have these scrawny necks, and when they run their cheeks flap like those of old people. But they seldom run. They are all limp and listless.

"The scene in the out-patients' department at the biggest state children's hospital was pitiful—no sound or attempt to play. The children sat quietly on their mothers' knees or against a wall.

"I saw several cases of osteo-malachia, a disease so rare before the war that the only two cases I had ever seen had been shown to me as a curiosity. It seems to come from lack of fresh food, and there have been 250 cases in Vienna, and I heard of another epidemic in a German town.

"The bones soften and become distorted, the pelvis bones fold inward. In early stages it is curable, but a bad case never will walk again, and a rather bad case always will have difficulty in walking.

"The cases were those of older children and adults. They told me that the hospitals were receiving about 15 cases a day, and those they had to turn away inevitably must become worse. I used to test the condition of the children I saw by feeling their fleshless arms. When I touched one child the father said: 'Don't touch him. He has this bad new disease, and it hurts him so much.' I realized that I had hurt him, but the child was too listless to shrink from the pain.

"The doctors could do practically nothing for the out-patients who could not be taken to the hospitals. The mothers were in despair. The doctors said the greatest want of all was for cod liver oil. Funds raised in England had sent a supply, but it only lasted two days. Practically every child under two is rickety.

Suffer From Starvation.

"It is extraordinary how little Vienna has suffered from war epidemics such as typhus. The enormous increase in sickness is due to starvation disease. Almost all of its child population is stunted, starved, left without vitality, vigor or energy. An enormous number are tubercular and a considerable proportion of these will die. Another considerable proportion will for all their lives probably be stunted in mind and body, and all will be handicapped."

The children of school age provided with one meal of soup and bread in the day by American Red Cross workers at a special kitchen she visited were watched lest they should take the bread home. "You must eat the bread," the workers told them. "All that we can do is to help you to keep well and strong." The American Red Cross is opening more of these kitchens, and hopes to feed 40,000 or more children, but that only means food for one section of the people, the children of school age—and even then only one meal in the day.

First Toothless Saw.

Coldwater, Minn.—Coldwater lays claim to being the birthplace of the original toothless buzz-saw. According to C. W. Bennett, one of the oldest residents, during his boyhood there was a machine shop for turning wood located near the town, owned by John Jenkyn, who operated the daddy of all toothless saws. The toothless disk, according to Mr. Bennett, was six inches in diameter, had been cut from a plate of common sheet iron and attached to a lathe. When in rapid motion the saw would cut through a large steel file, throwing a stream of sparks 20 inches.

Novelty Soon Wears Off.

An experienced young woman told us the other day that there is a time in every engaged girl's life when about a day's growth of beard adds to her thrill, but that after the novelty wears off clean shaving is much preferred.—Ohio State Journal.

Too Much Rush in Life.

Today, as never before, the world is brimming over, palpitant with the fullness. And yet so many of us fail to sense it, to see many of us a primrose is but a primrose, a fallen leaf but a dead thing. In the rush of modern life, with its insistent demands upon our time and attention, driving ourselves from one self-made duty to another, we have missed the glory of the sunshine, the fragrance of the flowers, the beauty and charm and joy that are all about us.—Exchange.

New Kind.

Little Frederick, five, was visiting their neighbor across the way and declared Mrs. Smith with a new pair of eye-glasses. "Ooh, mamma," he exclaimed on reaching home, "I went over to see Mrs. Smith and she wears looking glasses on her eyes."

We Are Going to Tell Our Friends the Real

Facts About Furnaces

The average person knows too little of the scientific side of heating. Often the simple principles of combustion, radiation and circulation are not understood with the result that most people pay bigger coal bills and get less heat than they should.

We are going to give you an unusual opportunity to learn how your whole house can be heated comfortably with less fuel and less bother than is ordinarily required for heating only two or three rooms.

September 22-27
we will give a special
Demonstration of the
PIPELESS CALORIC FURNACE
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

This exhibit will be so arranged that you will quickly understand how a house can be thoroughly warmed all over through one register.

We will be in position to give you full particulars as to the most effective and economical method of home heating, and answer any questions you may wish to ask.

Come in and learn the real facts about furnaces,

Points We Will Prove To You

FUEL SAVING

We will demonstrate how the construction of the Caloric Furnace and its revolutionary principles of operation do away with all waste of heat and make possible a saving of at least 30% of your fuel. The Caloric is guaranteed to heat the whole house at a big fuel saving over any other method. Many users claim they have saved half, and some even more.

HEAT CIRCULATION

Since warm air rises and cold air falls, it is possible to utilize this natural law in such a way as to distribute warm air evenly throughout the whole house. The engineering problems involved in making successful use of this principle for home heating have been fully worked out by the makers of the Caloric Furnace through nearly ten years of testing and developing.

The 50,000 Caloric Furnaces now in successful operation throughout all parts of the country afford undeniable proof that the Caloric pipeless principle is sound and practical.

HEALTHFULNESS

The Caloric both heats and ventilates.

The air is purified by circulating, much as running water purifies itself. The air passes through a temperature of from 400 to 500 degrees—which thoroughly sterilizes it, as no germ life can live in more than 300 degrees.

The Caloric also has a water pan so located as to moisten the heated air, producing a healthy, balmy atmosphere at all times. The Caloric keeps dust, smoke and coal gas out of the house, and eliminates cold drafts and dirt rises.

QUALITY

The quality of materials, the skill of workmanship and the exclusive improved features contained in the Caloric cause it to rank high as a first class furnace. The firepot is hot blast, double ribbed — guaranteed against cracking for five years. The patented triple ashpit insures reliable banking, so that the circulation of the air is constantly maintained. The Caloric has great strength and durability. Every detail is right. Don't fail to see it during our special demonstration.

Ring Up the Code.

In China many temples are provided with a bell at the entrance, and when a worshiper enters he gives the rope a pull to ring the bell in order that the code may be notified of his coming and be at hand to attend to his prayers.

Loyalty Is First Demand.

Business presents untold opportunities, magnificent possibilities; but the only man who ever succeeds for himself or deserves promotion from anyone else is the man who is loyal.

Watch the Exhaust.

A government bulletin is authority for the statement that the greatest single factor in the operation of the steam plant is the way in which the exhaust steam problem is handled.
